A class littered with too many forward and prematurely tiring wines. Best wines showed the vibrancy, freshness and detail that reminds us why we love riesling.

Judges Comments:

A strong class with some classy variations on style. Top awarded wines showed excellent fruit definition along with judicious oak and artefact handling and balance. Non awarded wines lacked the above and lack of fruit definition was a major contributor for these wines.

Top wines were lovely. They show fresh fruit, subtle winemaking intervention and deft use of quality oak. Many wines show simple over ripe fruits and poor oak adds. Many wines showing high sugar levels.

Judges Comments:

Good solid strong class. All sorts rewarded. The best wines showed complexity, depth of flavour and line - bundled up in an effortless package. The main detractors of the class were over oaking (they should be fruit flavoured - not tree flavoured) and premature development. Picking too ripe perhaps?

Most wines still looking fresh maybe just a little plain and lacking varietal lift. Watch use of sugar. Top wines fine with clever winemaking.

Top wines show lovely use of older oak, texture and solids. Overall a pretty strong class.

Uninspiring class - too many wines lacked fruit definition and balance. However, there were some good variations within the P Gris/Grigio styles.

Low strike rate. Few highlights. Still a challenge to get this variety right. The best exhibits had defined aromatics, balanced phenolics and long shapely palates. There were many faulty wines.

Judges Comments:

Top wines a standout. Many green, high acid wines.

Too many lowlights. Best wines showed good fruit definition, length and concentration with good balance. Too many wines well over oaked.

Judges Comments:

Quite a high strike rate, evidence of a good solid vintage. Rewards for many styles. Non-medal wines generally suffering from a lack of fruit, advanced maturity or over-oaking.

A good cross-section of styles. Some wines a little advanced. Others still a little disjointed.

Judges Comments:

Very strong class with a cross section of styles rewarded for complexity and freshness.

Best wines showed freshness and nice perfume. Many extracted wines showing heavy oak and extracted tannins. Still a few wines showing brett.

A very disappointing class with too many wines suffering from a lack of fruit ripeness and sweetness. Too many herbal styles lacks definition. Over-oaking is still an issue with non-fruited wines.

Many wines lacking generosity, plushness and vibrancy. Tannin management a problem.

Judges Comments:

A disappointing class. Top wines showed good fruit ripeness, oak integration and balance. Non awarded wines showed lack of attention to detail along with green fruit and badly utilised oak. Too many wines showed premature ageing. Winemakers need to be more judicious with their oak handling - just because they've ordered it doesn't mean that it has to be used.

Strong group of cabernets from an obviously successful vintage in a number of regions. The top exhibits best showed the balance of fragrance, fruit and structure.

Many wines lacking freshness and vibrancy.

Judges Comments:

Interesting class of different varietals. Too many wines suffered from lack of attention to detail as too many were prematurely aged. More care needs to be taken either at the fruit/ferment/post ferm/bottling stage.
